Kid stuff

Kids were the main ingredient of last week's soap box derby, run by the Wilmington Recreation Department and sponsored by the Wilmington Police Association. The feature race was between Rec Director Ron Swasen (center) and Officer Bob Swasen (insert, right) running a specially-equipped soap-box cruiser. Swasen won, after Swasen lost control and tipped over.

VOTE: Tuesday, August 2
10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Editorial

Your turn

It has been a long summer for Wilmington's political people. The four candidates for the Democratic nomination for state representative have been working hard, along with their supporters.

Now it is the voter's turn. The day of the primary is close. August 2, next Tuesday, is the test to see if their work has been successful or in vain.

For Wilmington, the race is an important one. The present term is the last one in which Wilmington will dominate a representative district. In 1978, Wilmington will be split among two districts, one dominated by Reading, the other by Tewksbury.

But in this election, it is a race among four Wilmington men. Listed in alphabetical order, they are Robert Cain, Thomas Marden, Kevin McKelvey, and James Miceli. All are Democrats.

The August 2 election is the primary, but it is probably the only exercise of choice that the voters will have. No Republican candidate has declared for the race. The winner of the Democratic primary will be the winner of the election.

The elected representative will have a two-fold job. Obviously, he will be filling out the unexpired term of the late Fred F. Cain. But, also, the new man must work to build a base for his re-election campaign for next year.

The key to the primary will be which man can bring his supporters to the polls. Many voters have well-established allegiances. But many voters, too, have vacation plans. August is a month with few events scheduled, because so many people are not at home.

It could well be that the winner will be the man with the fewest friends on vacation. Perhaps the candidates should extend their offers of rides to the polls to include buses from and to area vacation spots.

Each vote means a lot to each candidate. It is something that they have worked for very hard over the past couple of months.

For the voter, the vote is a means of participating in the decision. But is also a way to say "Thanks" to the candidates. Yes, "Thanks." Thanks for an interesting summer, and thanks for caring enough about our government to work this hard to be a part of it.

The polls will be open Tuesday, August 2, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Wilmington High School Gymnasium.

Town Hall burglarized

The Town Hall had visitors during the past weekend.....unwelcome visitors.

Monday morning, it was discovered that someone had entered the cellar of the Town Hall through a rear door. Among the missing were a pocket calculator, a radio, a large calculator, and a small amount of change.

The thieves also entered the employees' refrigerator, where they helped themselves to crackers, tonic and ice cream.

The thieves maneuvered around the cellar by climbing over the partitions. There is a space between the partitions and the ceiling. The size of the openings has led Town Manager Sterling Morris to believe that the thieves were not large people.

Because the value of the missing items does not exceed the $1000 deductible limit in the town's insurance, the cost of the missing items must be borne by the town.

Senator Amick office hours

State Senator Carol Amick has announced she will have office hours in the Historical Room of the Wilmington Memorial Library from 9 10:30 a.m. on the second Tuesday of each month. The office hours, she says, will help to fulfill one of her campaign pledges that she would hold regular office hours in every community in the 5th Middlesex District.

Evening hours will be on the fourth Tuesday of each month, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Library.

Senator Amick can be reached by calling her home in Bedford, 275-2644, or by calling or visiting her at her State House office, Room 518, 727-2571.

DiCara makes his pitch

The Democratic barbecue on Saturday night attracted, as could be expected, a large number of politicians. One of those in attendance was Ed

King, former head of Massport, now priming for a race for the governorship of the Commonwealth. State Auditor Thaddeus Buczeko was there too.

With such notable pols in attendance, the presence of Boston City Councillor Larry DiCara might have gone unnoticed, were it not for his injury.

DiCara is planning to run for the post of state treasurer, now that Joe Kennedy has declared that he is not seeking the seat, which is now held by Bob Crane.

DiCara was injured in a collision at first base in a softball game on Friday night in Boston. He was pitching, and went over to cover first base on a play. He encountered one very determined base runner, and in the ensuing collision, sustained a broken collar bone.

But broken collar bone or not, Saturday was politics as usual for Larry DiCara. The Wilmington cookout was his third stop that day. Barbecued chicken and corn on the cob were no easy feast for a man working with one hand.

But DiCara's injury might just have turned out to be a political asset. People took note of him, and for a man in his game, that is just what the doctor ordered.

Still pitching

With his arm in a sling, Larry DiCara carries on a discussion with Margaret Imbimbo, at the Democratic barbecue.

Kathleen Keady
Kathleen Keady of Congress St., Wilmington, a freshman in the College of Liberal Arts, Suffolk University, has been named to the Dean's Honors list for the spring semester of the 1976-77 academic year.

Can anyone?
A young Wilmington resident has been searching in vain for the last lines of a poem. If any reader has any suggestions they would be appreciated.

"Don't throw on the floor the food you do not eat; for some girl or boy it would be a treat; Your mother and father work very hard to give you clothes and food;....."

'Arsenic and Old Lace' to benefit Senior Citizens

It's really a recipe for laughter. Take a pair of batty old ladies who poison their gentlemen guests out of pity; their very nervous nephew trying to dispose of one of their victims; his bogle blowing lunatic brother who thinks he's Teddy Roosevelt; and another brother fresh out of prison for the criminally insane and you can begin to laugh at the results, a rib-tickling comedy.

The Merrimack Valley Community Players will present this nostalgic play on Friday and Saturday, July 29 and 30 at 8 p.m. at Wilmington High School auditorium.

Proceeds will benefit the Wilmington Senior Citizens' Drop-in Center.

Tickets will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children. All Wilmington Senior Citizens are invited free.

The Merrimack Valley Community Players is a new theatrical group comprised of many of the area's most enthusiastic thespians.

Included in the cast of "Arsenic and Old Lace" are: Frank Duggan, Mark Matarese, Jerry Robbins, Carol Adams and Mike DeMarco of Wilmington; Donna Gould, Gisele Gauthier, and Bob Knapp of Billerica; Phil Arsenault of Tewksbury; and Jerry Peters of Methuen. The show is under the direction of Al Fairbrother.

Not what it seems

It's not the crime of the year, just a play rehearsal. Jerry Robbins and a tied-up Mark Matarese are preparing for their roles in the zany play "Arsenic and Old Lace," to be presented this weekend at Wilmington High School auditorium.

John A. Hooper aboard USS Pegasus

Navy Engineer Fireman John A. Hooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eleizer W. Hooper of 26 Kenneth Lane, Tewksbury, is serving as a crewmember aboard the Navy's first permanently assigned hydrofoil ship.

The patrol combatant missile USS Pegasus was commissioned July 9 in Seattle. Hooper is one of 21 officers and enlisted men assigned to the Pegasus. His ship has a retractable hydrofoil system which permits her to operate in shallow waters at speeds up to 12 knots. While in open water, she "flies" on foils at speeds in excess of 40 knots and can maintain stability even in heavy seas.

She is designed to conduct high speed attacks against enemy surface ships and small craft plus surveillance, screening and patrol operations in coastal and inland water ways. The Pegasus is 147 feet long and displaces over 235 tons. She is outfitted with a 76mm gun and eight "Harpoon" surface-to-surface missile launchers. The ship has undergone extensive operational and testing evaluations for the past two years.

His ship is scheduled to undergo final outfitting and preparation at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard in Bremerton, Wash., before sailing to her permanent homeport of San Diego.

A 1975 graduate of Tewksbury Memorial High School, he joined the Navy in August 1975.

Little legs go a long way

Even the smallest of sprinters gets a fair shot during the Rec track meet. Last week the little people ran a very hectic 100 yard dash.

The winner

Making sure

Rec track timers Gerry Rideout (standing) and Ray Maillet make sure that they have the winners straight. The turnout was cut down after an early evening thunderstorm soaked the track.

The bride was educated at Salem State College where she was awarded a B.S. in Elementary Education.

Bits & Pieces

Additional birthday
Mrs. Virginia (Ginny) Johnson of Grove Ave., Wilmington will observe her special day on July 26.

Up from Sarasota
Jeannette and Will Kelloway, formerly of Church St., Wilmington, now of Sarasota, Florida have been visiting friends in Wilmington. They are currently staying at their son's home in Methuen. According to the Kelloways' Florida is wonderful, but it's nice to visit the old home town.

Injured finger
Anne Mahoney, Realtor, of Middlesex Ave., Wilmington is currently sporting a fractured finger which she injured playing with her granddaughter at the beach.

Safety Town
August 15-16
Parents whose children will be entering school for the first time this fall, either in kindergarten or first grade are invited to sign up their youngsters for the Safety Town program at Burlington Mall. In the twice-daily one-hour sessions, a child learns how to cope with some of the problems he might face on the way to school or the bus stop by acting as a pedestrian or as a "driver" of a bicycle or pedal-type car. Registration will be on a first come, first served basis. Call the Mall office at 272-5833.

Memories of the old Town Farm

There were 96 acres, about 30 under cultivation. There were horses and cattle, and two or three inmates, and it was run by a superintendent and his wife.

The Superintendent was a man named Melvin Brown. His wife was the Matron. He earned $450 a year, and board and room for himself and Mrs. Brown. People who knew the couple spoke kindly of them.

Want to watch a Pop Warner Football game, or take part in a Touch Football game? Maybe there could be a party for people who want to use a toboggan. Possibly someone wants to take part in an Easter-Egg Hunt.

Those things all happen, down at the old Town Farm, in Wilmington. Today it is the Town Memorial Park, with a lighted softball field. That name was given to it by a town vote some 30 or 40 years ago, and Mrs. Susan T. Esler was one of the ladies who so-named it. Susan was State Commander of the Auxiliary to the American Legion, and when she spoke in town meeting she was a lady who could be heard.

So the old Town Farm became the Town Memorial Park, and don't forget to use the word Memorial.

Sixty years ago the Town Farm was a thriving institution. There were 96 acres, about 30 under cultivation. There were horses and cattle, and two or three inmates, and it was run by a superintendent and his wife.

Wilmington started its town farm in 1827, when it purchased one hundred acres of land from the Widow Caleb Eames. That land lay off the Andover Road, off a street today called Eames Street.

The old farm land was on both sides of the old Middlesex Canal. Where Brewsters stands today was a part of the old farm, a place where the inmates were kept busy in the gardening of that institution. There are several small lots of land along Main Street, places of business, on what was that town farm.

Beatrice Chemicals, too, is on what was part of the farm. There used to be a big corn field there - five or 10 acres of corn every year.

And, with those portions sold off, it is still a place worthy of a visit. Frank Tuttle has listed the ferns to be found there - forty-odd varieties. There are other plants too - flowers and trees. There is the old aqueduct of the Middlesex Canal, where it went over the Maple Meadow Brook.

The Town Farm was a successful business enterprise. The town poor and the social problems were cared for. For that day and age it was a kindly institution.

The selectmen, as Overseers of the Poor, were in charge of the Town Farm. They hired the people who ran it, man and wife, Superintendent and Matron. In Civil War days the pay was about $200 a year. Melvin Brown, the last Superintendent, in the days just after World War I, was paid $460 a year.

Town Farm

kept, and accounts to be settled, and this was the work of the Superintendent. Once a year, on New Year's Day, the selectmen would go down to the Town Farm, inspect the books, and have dinner. It was quite an occasion. Melvin Brown ran that farm as economically as possible. In 1915 he was able to report a profit of $785.16, and the year following there was a deficit of $29.44. Nineteen-eighteen was again a year of profits. It was that 1917 deficit that started politics going. There were some people who wanted to get rid of the town farm, and the subject became political.

Herbert C. Barrows was a selectman, and so was Ed Nelson Eames. There was a total of seven persons running for selectman that year.

One was Frank W. Dayton. Mr. Dayton at that time was a railroad brakeman - he later became a conductor. He had a wonderful opportunity to meet the voters, every day, in those railroad trains that ran right through the town farm. Fifty-six trains used to stop every day at the Wilmington railroad depot.

The Town Farm was distinctly a political subject.

The people of Wilmington, by and large, were proud of the place. It was well kept and so what, if one year it did not make a profit?

They voted to keep the farm going. That was a victory for Herb Barrows. On his side he had Ed Nelson Eames, a Boston businessman who was president of a lumber company, and Arthur Warren Eames.

The town farm continued, but only for a year or so.

Some time in 1919, the writer doesn't remember just when, the farm caught fire and burned down.

It was a bright, sunny day. The hay lofts were full, and the smoke could be seen for miles.

The Wilmington Fire Department and the Woburn Fire Department responded. Stanley Webber, then a young man, can remember how a Woburn fireman was knocked off a ladder by a stream of water. He fell and broke both legs.

That ended all the political fighting about the Town Farm.

Superintendent Brown and Mrs. Brown went to Wakefield, where he became the superintendent of the Wakefield Town Farm. With them went one remaining inmate, a woman named Lottie.

This is Carlo Francella, the man to see for a successful future. Carlo owns five different businesses, and wants to be a P.G.A. by the end of the year. It is very difficult for a normal man to believe in this special man, but in reality, he is just a simple and interesting man to know.

Carlo owns a car business, an oil business, Amway, a trampoline business, and he is an inventor. All of these businesses are owned by a simple man who is able to handle all of them in twelve hours. Carlo believes it is easy if you know how to do it.

Carlo does have part-time openings for people who want to learn how to have a successful future. If you are one of these people, call 658-5012 and ask for Carlo.

Carlo Francella (right) of Wilmington, with friends Leo Limberti, owner of Dini's Restaurant in Boston, dear friend Herb Lyndstrom, and dear friend Earl King.

Carlo invites his friends to a party on Sunday, July 31 at his home at 944 Main St., Wilmington. There will also be a demonstration of his golf trick shot at the Eden Country Club, 289 Chestnut St., Wilmington.

Lottie had been born on the town farm, and lived there all her life. She used to take the Woburn street car to Wilmington Square on a Sunday morning, and then down to Nichols Corner. From there it was only one hundred yards to the Congregational Church.

In those days what is now the choir loft in the church was simply a gallery. The organ was down near the minister's pulpit, and there too was the choir.

Lottie would sit alone in the gallery. The poor woman did not have to much comprehension on what was going on, but she did attend church every Sunday. Then, the services over, she would walk to Nichols Corner and take the street car again, this time to go "home."

When Mr. and Mrs. Brown moved to Wakefield they took Lottie with them. And that was the end of the Wilmington Town Farm.

Pony League

Wildcats tough runner-up

Wilmington's Pony League squad survived a forfeit last week to finish with an 8-5-1 record, second place, and a spot in the playoffs. The Wildcats will battle the North Reading Braves (8-5-0) in the first round of the post-season showdown.

Wilmington edged out the Braves for the second spot last week as the tough runners-up dropped the Reading Rockets 9-3 before last Friday night's forfeit to the North Reading Red Sox. Wilmington finished up the regular season last Saturday with a 19-5 beating at the hands of the first place Reading Jets. The Jets captured the regular season crown with a perfect 14-0 mark. They will tangle with the fourth place North Reading Red Sox in first round playoff action.

Tuesday, July 19-Wildcats 9, Reading Rockets 3. Pitcher John Ferguson turned in a route-going performance as the Wildcats solidified their hold on second place. Ferguson tossed a four-hitter while walking three and striking out a pair.

Gary Hastings had the hot stick again for the winners as he ripped three hits - including a double for two rbi's. Hastings showed boosted his average to a blazing .450.

Mark Hurley had the good eye as he drew a pair of walks to go along with a hit and an run batted in. Ferguson walked twice and slapped a hit for two rbi's.

Tim McCann continued his timely hitting with a single and an rbi. Steve Mosher and Brian Walley rounded out the Wildcat attack with singles.

Neil Wetzler scored three runs for Wilmington and managed to draw three walks along the way. Wilmington broke open a 2-2 game with a six run fourth inning. Reading closed the gap to 8-3 with a single run in the fifth, but Ferguson was solid throughout as the Wildcats downed the sixth place Rockets.

Wilmington again had trouble fielding a full-squad as the winners played the contest with just 10 men.

The Wildcats finished with eight hits and committed one error.

Friday, July 22, Forfeit...Thursday night's game was called because of rain, but the day's delay didn't save the Wildcats as Friday night the club couldn't come up with nine players - resulting in a forfeit loss to the North Reading Red Sox.

Wilmington had been utilizing three players from the Senior Little League.

With those boys the Wildcats had gone on a six game winning streak to move into second place.

As of last week the Senior Little League squad was in the playoffs - causing the PONY League squad to lose the services of important players.

Saturday, July 23 - Reading Jets 19, Wildcats 5. A nine run fourth inning by the regular season champs did in the Wildcats. Dave Reid, Jeff Evans, and Neil Wetzler all pitched for Wilmington. The Jets reached the 13-year-old Reid for 11 runs on 10 hits during his three and one-third innings of work. Evans pitched two and one-third frames while surrendering six hits and six runs. The two boys combined for seven walks while striking out none. They were also the victims of some shoddy Wildcat defensive play as the team committed five errors for the game.

Wetzler came on to mop up the final inning and a third, striking out two and allowing two hits and one run.

Mark Hurley paced the attack with two hits and two rbi's. Thirteen-year-old Bob Doucharme played a super game as he banged out three hits to drive home a pair of runs. Gary Hastings and Brian DelFino each had two hits for the Wildcats while Wetzler and Kevin Cairra helped out with singles.

Jet explosions in the third, fourth, and fifth innings sent the Wildcats down to their fifth defeat of the season. The big nine run fourth was the crusher. Wilmington managed to comeback with three runs in the bottom of the fifth against the red-hot Jets.

Hastings leads the way

All-Stars in finals tonight

Wilmington's Little League All-Stars have made it to the finals of the District 13 Tournament. Tonight (Wednesday, July 27) the stars travel to Wakefield for a 5:45 encounter.

Last week Wilmington bowled over tourney foes for three wins and a spot in the finals. Arlington West, Arlington North, and the Wakefield Nationals all fell to the red-hot Wilmington club.

The route to the finals

Tuesday, July 19-Wilmington 5, Arlington West 1. The All Stars won behind the five hit pitching of Ed Olshaw and Phil Polizzotti. Olshaw left the game after he was hit by a lien drive in the top of the second inning. Polizzotti came on to finish up and preserve the Wilmington win.

In the bottom of the second inning Polizzotti escaped injury when he was hit by a pitched ball. This sit up the first two Wilmington runs of the game as after Polizzotti was sacrificed to secondbase by Jonathan Nolan. Craig Richards reached on an error to score Polizzotti. A Robbie Richards' single put runners on second and third - Jeff Lux closed out the second inning outburst when he lifted a sacrifice fly to score Richards from third.

Craig made the score 3-1 in the fourth inning when he ripped a home run. Polizzotti gave himself a cushion in the fifth frame when he powered a two-run homer to give his team its final 5-1 edge.

The defensive gem of the day was turned in by shortstop Nolan who ended the game with a shoestring grab of a line drive. With his back to the plate - John raced back to nab the sinking liner to put Arlington West away.

Friday, July 22, Wilmington 6, Arlington North 2. Ted Moran fired a two hitter as Kevin Smith led the winning attack with two hits.

Saturday, July 23-Wilmington 8, Wakefield Nationals 1. Ed Olshaw's three hitter put his team in the finals. Wilmington exploded for a six run second inning. Ted Moran led with a single to start the second inning rally. Jonathan Nolan was hit by a pitch and Craig Richards walked to load the sacks - setting up the game braking blows by John Cushing and Jeff Lux.

Cushing drove one run home with a single up the middle and Lux followed with a two run double to give Wilmington a 3-0 lead. An Ed Olshaw two-bagger upped the margin to 4-0 before Kevin Smith singled to drive in Olshaw with another run.

Moran and Nolan blasted a sixth inning home run to put the game away.

Girls basketball

Wilmington hoopsters on tear

The WHS girls basketball hopefuls continued their winning ways this past week as they stretched their unbeaten skein to five games. The girls now sport an impressive 5-0 slate for the summer roundball season. Last week Wilmington hung on to topple a tough Tewksbury club 46-37.

B.J. "Rocky" Walker, the team's most improved player led the way with 12 points. Steady Janet O'Reilly helped out the offense with 13 markers and Sue Rowe chipped in with eight points.

Dianne Doyle and Pat O'Reilly handled the rebounding chores against the aggressive Tewksbury five with eight rebounds apiece.

In last week's second tilt Wilmington stormed past North Reading 54-11. The Wildcats used a tenacious full-court press to good advantage as they completely shut off the North Reading attack. The aggressive defense resulted in numerous steals and turnovers.

Sue Nagy and Debbie Bent each had five steals to lead the Wildcats swarming zone-press. Doyle and Pat O'Reilly anchored the inside defense with eight blocked shots between them.

Janet O'Reilly and Sue Rowe dominated the offense. Janet pumped in six field goals for 12 points while Sue chipped in with five goals for 10 points. Carol Filio and B.J. Walker finished with seven points apiece for the winners.

Kathy Barry and Tish Hatfield led the board chores with six and seven rebounds respectively.

Recs whitewash Concord

The Wilmington Recs topped Concord, 11-0 on Wednesday, July 20 to improve their Northern Division slate to 9-5-1. Dave Sousa (5-2) fired a neat two hitter, walking only one Falcon batter, while striking out six.

John Smith led the Recs' attack with a pair of doubles and two rbi's, while Bill Blaisdell knocked in three runs. Coach Scanlon's club had two non-divisional encounters postponed and with only two games left with Westford the Recreation nine is 11-6-1 overall in their best season ever.

Coach Dick Scanlon's Northeast baseball "nine" were just that Tuesday night in Lowell. Scanlon had just enough players for the tilt - nine which included Pony League call-up Terry Desmond (rightfield). The 12-10 loss, dropped the Recs into third place in the Northeast circuit with 9-6-1 record.

Lowell moved into the second spot with a 9-4-1 mark. The Recs play their final game of the season tonight against Concord at the WHS diamond.

Lefthander Dave Sousa struggled with his control throughout the Lowell game and he was finally relieved by fireballing righthander Bob Woods in the bottom of the sixth inning. Lowell reached Woods for three base hits into shallow leftfield to score three runs and put the game away.
